

A day in Orthodontics

INTERDISCIPLINARY ROLE OF ORTHODONTICS IN AESTHETIC DENTISTRY

26 NOV 2023
8AM-6PM
8 CPE POINTS

Orthodontic tooth movement (OTM) can be used to establish an optimal foundation for functional and aesthetic restorations. This course will highlight the benefits of an interdisciplinary approach with an emphasis on prescription orthodontics to enhance restorative (conventional & implant-supported) and gingival objectives.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Participants will learn about:

- The differences between adolescent versus adult orthodontics
- The common dental problems that exist in adult patients requiring implant, restorative and periodontal procedures
- How adjunctive orthodontics managed in an interdisciplinary manner can help the general dentist to produce exceptional implant, restorative and periodontal outcomes for the above dental problems in their adult patients.
- How to manage gingival levels to obtain best aesthetic outcomes by choosing between orthodontic tooth movement, periodontal surgical intervention or both

SPEAKER PROFILE

PROFESSOR SUNDARALINGAM PREMARAJ

Prof. Premaraj is the current Chair at the Department of Orthodontics, College of Dental Medicine, Nova Southeastern University (NSU). He is also a Diplomate of the American Board of Orthodontics and Fellow of The Royal College of Dentists of Canada.

He is actively involved in practicing orthodontics in the intramural faculty practices at UNMC, Omaha Children's hospital and NSU. Currently, Dr Premaraj is a member of the cleft palate and craniofacial team at Joe DiMaggio Children's Hospital, Hollywood, FL.

His key research interests are in biology of tooth movement, craniosynostosis, cleft lip and palate, and obstructive sleep apnoea.
